Gloria

Glory to God in the highest, and on earth peace to people of good will. We praise you, we bless you, we adore you, we glorify you, we give you thanks for your great glory, Lord God, heavenly King, O God, almighty Father.

Lord Jesus Christ, Only Begotten Son, Lord God, Lamb of God, Son of the Father, You take away the sins of the world, have mercy on us; You take away the sins of the world, receive our prayer; You are seated at the right hand of the Father, have mercy on us.

For you alone are the Holy One, you alone are the Lord. You alone are the Most High, Jesus Christ, with the Holy Spirit, In the glory of God the Father. Amen.

The Apostles' Creed

I believe in God,
the Father Almighty, Creator of heaven and earth,
and in Jesus Christ, His only Son, our Lord,
who was conceived by the Holy Spirit,
born of the Virgin Mary,
suffered under Pontius Pilate,
was crucified, died and was buried;
He descended into hell;
on the third day He rose again from the dead;
He ascended into heaven,
and is seated at the right hand of God the Father Almighty;
from there He will come to judge the living and the dead.

I believe in the Holy Spirit,
the Holy Catholic Church,
the communion of Saints,
the forgiveness of sins,
the resurrection of the body,
and life everlasting.
Amen.

Gospel:

St. Michael the Archangel

St. Michael the Archangel, defend us in battle. Be our protection against the wickedness and snares of the Devil. May God rebuke him, we humbly pray, and do thou, O prince of the heavenly hosts, by the power of God, cast into hell Satan, and all evil spirits, who prowl about the world seeking the ruin of souls. Amen.

Greetings in Christ!

I'm typing this one early, so there really won't be any current events, sorry about that! After my last Mass on Sunday, I will be going away for my yearly retreat/vacation. One of my cousins has a house on Lake Michigan and I'm going to stay there. My buddy Geoff will be there as well; we do this annually and it's the highlight of my year. I've preached about thirty straight weekends, along with lots and lots of funerals, daily Masses, weddings, etc. It'll be nice to not write or deliver a homily...I love doing those things obviously, but sometimes, reading Scripture and praying without taking notes is nice!

When I go away like this, I mostly spend the time praying, reading, walking, sleeping...just shutting down. My dad will stay with one of my sisters and Marius will be with people he loves. I'll definitely miss you all and will obviously pray for you every day.

Because I will be away, it does unfortunately mean that we cannot cover all of our Masses at Holy Family and St. Mark.

So, on July 16th, the only full Mass we will have available is 10:00 a.m. The eight and noon will be communion services led by our deacon or, as the ritual calls them, a "Priestless Sunday." For those Mass times, you can fulfill your Baptismal Obligation to pray Mass by attending one of these communion services or by going to Mass at a Catholic church of your preference and praying there.

We only expect this phenomenon to happen one more time this year. Praise God for that!

I miss you all very much; thank you for letting me be your priest.

Our Catholic Heritage

by Earl Hagen

94th Pope – Stephen III

Born in Sicily, became a Benedictine monk, was elected pope on August 7, 768. He was preceded by two Antipopes. By overthrowing the monk Philip and his Lombard allies, he immediately made good the harm caused by them. They had clandestinely elected him pope. After Stephen's consecration, the antipopes were treated with the greatest cruelty, which was generally allowed. After correcting the conduct of Charlemagne, Stephen called a council in which it was established that laymen could not be elected pope unless he were first elected Cardinal. Stephen III died January 24, 772.

Faith Like a Child

If you Google Search recommendations on how to raise generous children, almost every list of ideas begins with — or at least contains — the directive for adults to be good models of generosity themselves. Our children learn from our actions much more than from our words. Of course, when I think back over the years while my children were growing up, I think I may have learned as much from them as they learned from me. There is a time between early childhood and middle school where a child seems to be freer to give and share than at any other time in life. It is around the age of First Communion when the cries of “mine” turn to laughter and smiles, and the urge to be a part of something bigger than oneself leads to sharing. Before you know it, the child hits the pre-teen years, and once again, he or she becomes the center of the universe.

I believe that the previous paragraph is all true, however, the stages described seem to repeat themselves throughout adulthood. Don't you agree? Sometimes we fall into seeing ourselves as the center of the universe, or we become consumed by our state in life or with what we have acquired. Also, we at times are generous and loving people. It is sin that draws us back into ourselves and away from any meaningful life of stewardship and generosity. In order to be freed for love, we need role models to help us see what really matters. We need to reflect on the example of many of our brothers and sisters in Christ. And, yes, we need to look to children who may be at the point in their lives where sharing is fun, and love is something in abundance.

Saint

July 14: St. Kateri Tekakwitha (1656-1680)

The first native North American saint, Kateri's short life as a Christian was marked with much suffering. Born in New York she was a Christian Algonquin and her father a Mohawk chief. When Kateri was four years old, smallpox wiped out her family and left her disfigured and partially blind. She was baptized at the age of 20, which alienated her from her family. She died at the age of 24.

FOLLOWING OUR FAITH

Gospel Meditation

Encourage Deeper Understanding of Scripture

Do you ever feel restless? I certainly do. Daily tasks and challenges, but also the more basic demand of simply existing — sooner or later, this can all feel crushing and tire us out.

Which is why Jesus' words are such stunningly good news: "Come to me all you who labor and are burdened and I will give you rest" (Matthew 11:28). How vastly weird that this man speaks as though he is capable of giving us the deep repose we desire. Is his claim the height of absurd grandiosity? No, because next he immediately proclaims that he is "meek and humble of heart." We here touch a mystery: Jesus is capable of giving us rest because he is the one who forever reposes in the heart of God the Father. He is "yoked" to the Father in his divinity. But he is humbly "yoked" to us, sharing in our humanity.

The good news, my fellow tired-out friends: we don't have to despair in our burdens and exhaustion, no matter how heavy they feel. This week, join me in opening our hearts to hear him say to us, "Come! I will give you rest." We come to him in the Church, Eucharist, the Scriptures, prayer, in the poor. There he will give us rest.

— Father John Muir

Recognize God in Your Ordinary Moments
by Colleen Jurkiewicz Dorman

A Ballad of Flesh and Spirit

"My yoke is easy and my burden is light," says the man hanging from a cross. And if we only went on what we see with our eyes — flesh driven through by nails and sword, swollen from beating and inches from expiration — it would seem like a joke.

I'll tell you something we all know: this life on earth is hard. It's either too long or it's too short. It's frequently painful. It's riddled with problems that seem to make no sense. It is, as Dickens wrote, "made of ever so many partings welded together."

But it's also shockingly, senselessly beautiful. It is full of physical experiences of love, joy, and peace that are so powerful they leave you breathless.

It is both these things — good and bad, hard and wonderful, just as we are both body and soul, spirit and flesh.

No one knows the Father except the Son, who entered into our bodily existence to free us from enslavement to it. No one knows the Son except the Father, and the means by which they know one another — the love passing between them, the Third Person himself — has been shared with us, has made its dwelling within us through baptism.

"Brothers and sisters, we are not debtors to the flesh, to live according to the flesh."
— Romans 8:12

Excerpts from God in the Diary of Saint Sister Maria Faustina (Diary, 367)

“To comfort you, let Me tell you that there are souls living in the world who love Me dearly. I dwell in their hearts with delight. But they are few. In convents too, there are souls that fill My Heart with joy. They bear My features; therefore the Heavenly Father looks upon them with special pleasure.”
